GAINS GIVE NEW HOPE TO REPUBLICANS

Strong Opposition to New Deal Measures Expected in U.S. Congress

DEMOCRATS CONTINUE IN COMPLETE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Republican gains in every broad section of the country—except the South—fired expectations of party leaders for a successful 1940 Presidential campaign tonight and brought predictions of a substantial opposition to New Deal measures in the United States Congress.

For Tuesday's balloting added eleven Republicans to the roll of state Governors. Increased the party's membership in the House of Representatives by more than seventy and gave it at least eight additional votes in the Senate.

But even these victories did not measure completely the extent of the Republican advance. In several major contests which the Republicans lost, their party displayed much more strength than in recent years.

DEMOCRATIC TRIUMPHS
Against the Republican triumphs, there were offsets. One of these was a narrow Democratic victory in the all-important state of New York, which returned Herbert Lehman, Democrat, to the Governor's chair.

FIVE SISTERS CRY FOR FOOD

Quintuplets Doing Well After Tonsil and Adenoid Operations Yesterday

CALLANDER, Ont., Nov. 9 (AP)—Marie and her quintuplet sisters, Annette, Yvonne, Cecile and Emilie, stood up in their cots tonight and yelled for food, giving convincing evidence operations for removal of their tonsils and adenoids had left them far from speechless.

But they cried in vain. Dr. Allan Roy Daeoe decided they would have nothing to eat today. The operations, performed today, removing the tonsils and adenoids, left them with a hunger Dr. Daeoe thought would be better unsatisfied.

GIVES ANAESTHETIC
Dr. C. H. Robson, who gave the anaesthetic, developed a playful means in introducing the four and a half year old sisters to it. He handed them the anaesthetic mask to play with and practically let the children put themselves under the ether.

The operations took 3 hours and 15 minutes, and were announced as "completely successful." Dr. Daeoe said the children were on the operating table—an ordinary nursery table built up to the proper height for only 40 minutes. It needed an average of less than 10 minutes for each operation.

Noted specialists of the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children carried out the operations.

CONSERVATIVES ARE UNPLEGGED

Alberni-Nanaimo Federal Association Has Not Endorsed A. W. Neill, M.P.

Conservatives in the Alberni-Nanaimo Federal riding have not endorsed the prospective candidature of A. W. Neill, M.P., as an Independent at the next election, Gordon Campbell, president of the Alberni-Nanaimo District Conservative Association, stated yesterday in the course of a visit here.

Certain individuals, Conservatives in the riding may have approached Mr. Neill with an offer of support in their personal capacities, should the present member stand as an Independent at the next Federal election, Mr. Campbell said.

On the other hand, he continued, the Alberni-Nanaimo District Conservative Association has not endorsed Mr. Neill, nor taken any express stand in the issue at the present time. Reports to the contrary had gone all over Canada, he declared.

While in the city, Mr. Campbell called at the Legislative Buildings, where he had an interview with B. L. Maitland, K.C., provincial Conservative leader.

Forty-eight members wore Armistice poppies at their seats in token of Remembrance Day, one cause of the adjournment.

F. A. LINDSAY PASSES AWAY

Honorary Colonel of Scottish Regiment Was Former Yacht Club Commodore

Victoria lost one of her best-known citizens yesterday afternoon in the death of Frederick Archibald Lindsay, who passed away in the Royal Jubilee Hospital at 2 o'clock. He had been in poor health for fifteen months.

Deeply interested in many charities, Mr. Lindsay played an important part in the community and social life of Victoria during his twelve years' residence here. He was deeply missed by a wide circle of friends in all walks of life. Born in Dundee, Scotland, Mr. Lindsay was educated in Perth. As a young man he gained business experience in London; returning later to Perth, where he engaged in business until he retired in 1925. In the course of a trip around the world he was struck with the beauty and charm of Victoria and set about to make his home here as quickly as possible. Mr. Lindsay was keenly interested in the city's development.

Edmonton Re-Elects Its Mayor

EDMONTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—John W. Fry, citizens' committee candidate, was re-elected Mayor of Edmonton tonight, gaining a second term with a majority of votes over three other mayoralty candidates in the civic election.

Trailing far behind was Joseph A. Clarke, five-time mayor making a comeback following his 1937 defeat. Charles Gould, Progressive with support of the Edmonton Constituency Social Credit Association, was right behind Clarke and the other candidate, F. J. Speed, Independent, was far in the rear.

One hundred and twenty of 140 votes gave Fry, 10,461; Clarke, 4,844; Gould, 3,880; Speed, 208.

SUCCUMB AFTER DESPERATE FIGHT

Searchers Find Bodies of Men Who Struggled Vainly Through Ice Waters

HERB LAKE, Man., Nov. 9 (AP)—Signs of a desperate struggle through icy waters today were evident to searchers who found bodies of two of four men drowned in Herb Lake, 350 miles north of Winnipeg. Joseph Skulmowski, of Herb Lake, apparently struggled through the freezing waters to shore only to die of exhaustion and exposure. Skulmowski and three companions died after the motorboat in which they were crossing the lake capsized. His body was found today, and the body of a man identified as Andy Hamilton, of Montebello, Sask., was recovered from the lake later.

Repeal of Elections Act With Simplified Voting Now Proposed

Abolition of Monthly Courts of Revision, and Use Of Post-Card Registration by Voters Mooted in Plan Laid Before Legislative Committee

REPEAL of the Provincial Elections Act and substitution of a completely revised measure, proposing simplification of voters' registration, abolition of provincial elections' commissioners, redefinition of aliens, and abandonment of monthly courts of revision—was forecast before the British Columbia Legislative Committee on redistribution yesterday, when the new plan of provincial electoral officers was laid before the committee. Ten copies were filed with the committee, and additional copies will be distributed to members of the House.

Highly technical in its scope, the report will be considered by the committee on Monday.

MOB VIOLENCE FOLLOWS DEATH

Berlin Gangs Take Revenge On Jews for Killing Of Von Rath

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—Wrecking gangs smashing shop windows took swift vengeance early today upon Berlin's Jews for the killing of Ernst von Rath, German secretary in Paris, by a Polish Jew.

Gangs smashed every shop window made conspicuous by white letters painted some months ago on police orders.

Death of Von Rath shot Monday, was the signal for anti-Semitic demonstrations in Germany and violent attacks on Jews in the press.

Broadcasting stations observed two minutes' silence after the death in a French clinic was made known. At Dessau, according to the German News Agency (D.N.B.), spontaneous demonstrations occurred when the death became known. Police intervened to protect Jews, the report said.

TAXATION UNCHANGED IN HART BUDGET; NEW PLAN OF CIVIC PENSIONS OUTLINED

Budget Balanced Except for Full Sinking Fund And Relief

REDUCED REVENUES ARE ANTICIPATED

Bringing down his thirteenth budget in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, Hon. John Hart announced there would be no change in taxation; told of a plan to recast municipal pensions and separate them from provincial funds; and disclosed estimated revenue expenditure of $28,765,457 for 1939-40, against anticipated revenues of $28,820,641, for a nominal revenue surplus of $55,183. The major portion of sinking funds are to remain unallotted; but relief costs will be borne more out of revenue than formerly, the Minister of Finance said.

In an hour's address, Mr. Hart dealt with three fiscal periods; the year closed at March 31 last, the current period, and the new fiscal year commencing April 1, 1939, to which the budget itself applied. He defended the fiscal policies of the Treasury; said the credit of the Province had been restored by them, and predicted a substantial revenue surplus in the current year, on top of peak collections of $31,036,942 last year.

For a major settlement of its financing and municipal aid the Province would have to await readjustment of Dominion-Provincial relations, the minister declared.

THE NEW YEAR
On the major issue, taxation, Mr. Hart said:

SEE SURRENDER TO DICTATORS

Lloyd George Attacks British Foreign Policy—Fears Japanese Plans

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—David Lloyd George, war-time Prime Minister, characterizing Great Britain's foreign policy as always "complete surrender to the dictators," said today that as a result Japan intended to march to the boundaries of Burma.

"For the first time," he told the House of Commons, "they are right on our frontier, a great, aggressive, military empire commanding millions of soldiers."

"It is a very grave event for the British Empire. We have troubles in India which have revealed discontent with the concessions made and there are demands for greater concessions—for independence."

OPPOSES JAPANESE PLAN
R. A. Butler, Foreign Under-Secretary, told the House, as debate continued on the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, that Britain would not approve Japan's plan to shut Western powers out of China by forming a Chinese-Japanese-Manchukuo economic and political bloc.

He said Britain had made a "formal protest" to Japan against its intention of the open door in China, similar to the United States protest.

Sir Thomas Moore, Conservative, submitted an amendment to the Address in Reply, expressing regret the Government had "omitted to outline any measures for greater co-ordination of the Empire and to provide for development of schemes of emigration calculated to populate the vacant parts of the Dominions with British stock."

Highlights of Budget Brought Down by Hon. John Hart

Highlights in the Budget brought down in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday by Hon. John Hart were:

No change in Provincial taxation in any particular.

Estimated expenditures of $28,765,457; estimated revenues of $28,820,641; with nominal revenue surplus of $55,183 for year 1939-40.

Municipal superannuation scheme to be recast, separated from Government plan, and placed under independent trustee board, with refinancing of investment bank, involving loans to municipalities.

Gross debt reported at $186,424,198; net debt $149,080,089; and sinking funds at $37,344,109, in arrears by $13,254,390.

Unemployment relief costs put at $70,681,118 since inception, of which Province's share has been $37,364,655. Annual costs to Province now in excess of $5,100,000.

Actual revenue collections in 1937-38 were $4,567,601 more than anticipated; with $3,395,000 anticipated as revenue surplus in 1938-39.

Increases in appropriations this year to include: $60,000 for oil exploration, $25,000 for Alaska highway survey, $24,000 for university, $60,000 for forest protection, $44,767 for old age pensions, and $70,000 for mothers' pensions, with other items.

Prospect of readjustment of Dominion-Provincial and Provincial-municipal relations after report of Federal commission again maintained.

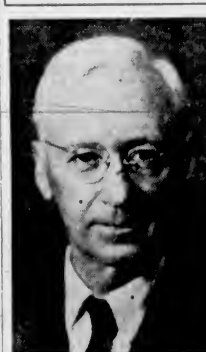

Industrial recovery since 1933 pointed to as indication Province is advancing to easier times.

Finance Minister Analyzes Fiscal Position of B.C.

Hon. John Hart Hopes for Readjustment in Federal-Provincial Relations—Shows Drain of Relief Expenditures and Tells How Assets Of Province Preserved in Policies

EXPLANATIONS of Federal invasion in the provincial income tax field, the enormous drain of relief expenditures, hopes of an early Federal-Provincial readjustment after the report of the Rowell Commission, and a fighting defence of fiscal policies he said had preserved the assets of the Province, improved its credit and enabled the discharge of all current obligations, featured the closing section of the budget address given yesterday in the Legislature by Hon. John Hart.

Superannuation to Be Placed In Charge of Independent Commission

NO IMMEDIATE AID FOR MUNICIPALITIES

No immediate aid for British Columbia municipalities, but a complete recasting of civic pensions schemes, to be placed by legislation under an independent board with some provincial refinancing and a scaling down of pension benefits, formed a major pronouncement by Hon. John Hart yesterday in his budget speech to the Legislature.

The Province, he said, proposed to deposit new long-term British Columbia bonds at 7.5 per cent, and cash, against its obligations in the scheme, and take in exchange securities not immediately marketable, though held in investment accounts.

The new board, he said, would not be subject to Government direction, but would function as trustees for the funds of civic pension schemes, to be divorced entirely from provincial superannuations. Municipalities would be asked to meet outstanding obligations to their own schemes; and would be assisted to do so by means of non-interest bearing loans from the Province, to be retired on a self-liquidating basis as earnings of the funds mounted.

The new plan, he said, would be actually sound, and remove confusion into which the present scheme had fallen.

AWAITING SETTLEMENT

Speaking of the municipalities generally, Mr. Hart said that the Province had made detailed representations to the Rowell Commission as to the burdens on land, and the inequity of the present division of taxation. Other provinces had spoken similarly, and remedial measures could be expected after the Federal Commission reported. After that was done, the Province hoped to be able to readjust its fiscal relations with the municipalities and

INCREASES AID TO COAL MINES

Maximum Subvention Now $2.00 a Ton to Assist Nova Scotia Industry

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (AP)—Nova Scotia coal has been placed on an even footing with United States imports of bituminous coal on the Ontario market by virtue of an order-in-council made public today, increasing the maximum subventions payable by the Federal Treasury to $2 a ton. The old maximum was $1.50. The maximum payable on coal for railway use was increased from $2 to $2.50.

By means of subventions all Dominion soft coal mines have been assisted in reaching distant markets in Canada since 1928, but Nova Scotia, largest producing centre, had had the lion's share of the movement.

TO MEET COMPETITION
The order-in-council applies only to Nova Scotia and is designed to enable producers in that province to compete with low-cost bituminous coal imported into Ontario from the United States recently at exceptionally low prices.

Until the subventions were increased today it was possible for Nova Scotia mines to undercut the United States product in Ontario up to 40 cents a ton. The increase will enable the Canadian product to meet that price.

It is anticipated here, officials said, the increased subventions will provide a market for about 500,000 tons of additional coal in Ontario.

PLANS TO PARDON THOMAS MOONEY

Governor-Elect of California Intends to Free Man Convicted in 1916

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (AP)—Culbert Olson, new Democratic governor-elect, issued a statement today indicating he probably will pardon Tom Mooney, convicted in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing case in 1916.

Before dictating a formal statement, Olson said his views had not changed since he supported a legislative resolution in March, 1937, attempting to pardon Mooney. At that time he expressed conviction Mooney was innocent. In today's formal statement, Olson said he would "approach the consideration of Mooney's application for pardon with these convictions."

Alleged Joke Brings Death To the Dance

KENORA, Ont., Nov. 9 (AP)—Thomas Semple testified before Magistrate T. H. Wolfe tonight that John Meinick, charged with manslaughter, touched a match to Dr. Dennis Smith's masquerade costume at a dance at Madson Red Lake Mine on October 29 when the mine doctor suffered fatal burns.

C. Le Donaghy testified Meinick had, seemed greatly perturbed as others at the dance sought to restrain Dr. Smith's flaming costume. "I lit it just as a joke, but I didn't expect that to happen," Donaghy said Meinick told him.

Memory of Fallen Will Be Honored at Annual Ceremony

Annual Remembrance Day Service to Be Held at The Cenotaph, Parliament Square, at 11 o'clock—Esquimalt Plans Similar Tribute

THOUSANDS of Victorians will assemble tomorrow, Remembrance Day—the twentieth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice—to pay tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice during the Great War. The non-denominational ceremony, which will commence at 11 o'clock, at the Cenotaph, Parliament Square, is under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., with the close cooperation of the naval, military and civic authorities.

Residents of Esquimalt will honor their fallen at a special service at the municipal Cenotaph at the same hour, which will be attended by naval and military units.

All war veterans will assemble for the Victoria ceremony on Humboldt Street, between Government and Douglas Streets, at 10:15 o'clock, and will move off at 10:40 o'clock, under the command of Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., headed by the Canadian Legion Band. They will take their allotted position on the eastern driveway of the Parliament Building grounds.

TO HEAD PARADE

Presidents of all ex-service organizations will parade as a body carrying wreaths, to be later deposited on the War Memorial. Massed standards will lead the parade, and all ranks will wear medals and poppies. Special groups of veterans such as the "Red Chevrons," "Spencers' Remnants" and "North West Field Force" will assemble at their own points and march to Humboldt Street to join the main parade.

The entire ceremony will be carried to the public over a public address system.

From 10:45 o'clock until 11, the King George V. tenor bell of Christ Church Cathedral will toll at intervals of twenty seconds. The 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, Canadian Artillery, will fire a gun on the last stroke of the eleventh hour, and again, later, to mark the beginning and closing of the two minutes' silence in memory of the fallen.

This will be followed by the lament, "Flowers of the Forest," by Piper A. Pollock, of the 16th Canadian Scottish Pipe Band. The hymn, "O Valley Heart," will then be sung, and Rev. S. J. Wickens, M.M., late of the 11th Field Ambulance, C.A.M.C. and C.R.T., will offer the prayer, followed by another hymn "The Silent Tribute."

The Last Post, Reveille and the

Here for B. C. Hospitals' Convention

Seek Transfer of Rail Bridge Over Fraser to Canada

BY A Bill introduced in the Legislature this week, the Provincial Government seeks leave to transfer the railway bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster to the Dominion of Canada. The bridge, built under the Loan Act of 1902, was valued at one time at approximately $1,500,000, and earned $70,000 yearly from rail and other traction rentals. The measure refers to an agreement, which may be explained in the House.

helpfully, Mrs. R. McVie, Esquimalt Community Club; the Women's Institute, Esquimalt Catholic Women's League, Nursing Sisters, Order of the Eastern Star, Esquimalt Athletic Association, the Naval Veterans' unit, Canadian Legion, and the Boy Scouts, Brownies and Girl Guides.

GAINS GIVE HOPE TO REPUBLICANS

over the strong Republican challenge carried by Thomas Dewey, Manhattan District Attorney, Lehman had a majority of 70,000 votes of the 4,700,000 cast.

In addition, the Democrats took California, which has had a Republican Governor for many years, and replaced the Republican Governor of North Dakota with one of their own party. They also placed a Democrat in the Maryland Governor's chair, previously held by a Republican.

But while the Democrats and the New Deal lost much, the results left the party securely in control of both House and Senate, although the Republican gains vastly increased the potential effectiveness of a coalition of Republicans and Democrats opposed to some phases of President Roosevelt's New Deal programme.

STOCK MARKET ADVANCES
The returns pushed the stock market into an energetic upward swing that produced new highs for the 1938 bull trend.

Former President Herbert Hoover issued a statement saying a majority of the voters cast their ballots for anti-New Dealers. He called the result "a protest" that "should enable the beginning of the end of this waste of public money, these policies of coercion, political corruption and undermining of representative government."

Former Governor Alfred M. Landon, of Kansas, Republican Presidential nominee in 1936 and nominal leader of the party, construed the tabulations as meaning "thousands of Democrats joined in the protest against the Roosevelt policies which were wrecking their party and their country."

But Postmaster-General Farley, chairman of the Democratic party's national committee, had another interpretation of the returns.

HUMANITARIAN POLICIES
"I think the outcome justifies the statement that the country as a whole is still strongly behind the humanitarian policies of President Roosevelt," he said.

Much interest centred upon success or failure in the general election of Conservative Democrats whose re-election President Roosevelt opposed in last summer's party "purge" campaign.

Those who survived the primary election came through handsily on Tuesday Senator George in Georgia, Senator Smith in South Carolina and Senator Tydings in Maryland. The one who failed in the Democratic primary and ran as a Republican, Representative O'Connor, of New York, chairman of the House rules committee, was beaten.

Another feature of the election which excited much comment was defeat of third party Governors in Wisconsin and Minnesota. In the former state, Philip La Follette, Progressive, seeking a fourth term, was ousted by Julius Hall, Republican. Governor Benson, of Minnesota, a Farmer-Laborite, lost to Harold Stassen, Republican.

SUBSCRIBERS ARE THANKED

Duncan MacBride, Community Chest Vice-Chairman, Makes Final Appeal

A final appeal on behalf of the Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign was made last evening by Duncan MacBride, vice-chairman of the campaign committee.

"We feel that the citizens of Greater Victoria are behind the Community Chest 100 per cent, as fully borne out by their wonderful generosity last year. We have again the enthusiastic support of voluntary canvassers giving freely of their time to the cause, but the rate of flow of contributions is, unfortunately, much slower than last year. We are reluctant to ask this splendid body of ladies and gentlemen to donate more of their time to the campaign, although many of them have, of their own accord, suggested to do so at once.

"Numerous subscribers to this year's fund have already, without any request from us, given a second donation as an indication of their desire not to see such a community effort in Victoria fail to reach its objective. We feel that this spirit is fully shared by many who are not yet on our list of subscribers, and we therefore, look for an appreciable increase in the grand total before the end of the week."

STILL "DOWN"
Last evening's audited returns showed that the grand total of this year's drive is $10,834 short of the amount collected last year, or $13,440 short of the 1938 objective of $24,274.

There is to be a special meeting of the campaign committee at 11 o'clock this morning, when the matter of opening a second donation list will be brought forward. In any event, although the campaign officially closes at midday today, the fund will still remain open for subscriptions.

It is generally conceded that the ladies' division (Division "C") will make its quota.

In acknowledging the splendid efforts of the canvassers, the committee wishes again to remind the public that this work has been done

A NEW CAR JOINS THE FORD QUALITY GROUP

THE MERCURY

V-TYPE Eight A PRODUCT OF THE FORD ORGANIZATION

For 1939 the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, presents an entirely new car—The Mercury 8. Outstanding features are streamlined beauty—rich upholstery and appointments—95-horsepower V-type engine—hydraulic brakes—remarkable quiet and comfort—116-inch wheelbase, 195 inches over-all length—wide bodies—exceptional room for passengers and luggage.

THOUSANDS of motorists, noting the extra value provided by the Ford and the Lincoln-Zephyr in their price fields, have had a desire for an equally outstanding value in the lower medium-price field.

The new Mercury 8 is the answer to that desire. It provides the added size and luxury that extra dollars buy, plus something this price class has never known before... Ford quality and dependability, with the performance and economy of a Ford-built V-type 8-cylinder engine.

It is made possible by the modern, progressive policies of the Ford organization and its constant effort to give greater value to a widening circle of motorists.

The clean, flowing lines of the new Mercury reflect the distinction of the Lincoln-Zephyr—accepted style leader and an example of Ford pioneering in original design.

The Mercury is a big car—long and unusually wide—with exceptional space for passengers and luggage. Three people can ride comfortably (we emphasize the word comfortably) in both the front and back seats. Head room and leg room are equal to that of many cars selling at considerably higher prices.

Because the Mercury is a big car, it is powered by a big 95-horsepower engine, of the eight-cylinder V-type that has made such an unusual record of performance. Motorists who now own cars in this price field will be amazed at the economy of the Mercury 8.

It is a remarkably quiet car. Scientific research by Ford engineers has minimized noise and vibration. Microphones and stethoscopes have been used to locate the sources of disturbing noises and new sound-deadening materials developed.

Bodies are all-steel, of course, welded into a single one-piece unit for your greater protection. The new hydraulic brakes are built to strict Ford standards of safety and dependability.

We invite you to see the new Mercury 8.

THE PROVINCIAL BUDGET

The gross debt of British Columbia on October 1 was $186,424,198.19. The net debt on the same date was $149,000,089.07, which is accounted for by the sinking funds amounting to $37,424,109.12. In the fiscal year 1937-1938 revenue amounted to $31,036,942.74, which was $2,934,330.26 more than was collected in 1936-1937. The Province, since the inception of unemployment relief, has paid out $37,984,685.41 as its share of the burden. In September last there were 51,877 persons in receipt of relief allowances, as compared with 42,504 in the same month last year.

The Budget brought down in the Legislature yesterday says no changes are contemplated at the present time in the tax structure of the Province. In other words, the people can contemplate no relief. This is despite the fact that revenue collections go on increasing. For the first six months of the current fiscal year those collections were $17,854,337, which indicates that the total for the year will be much in excess of that collected in 1937-1938. This may or may not be an evidence of increasing prosperity. It is counterbalanced by the fact that there are nearly 10,000 more persons on relief than there were a year ago.

Mr. John Hart, the Minister of Finance, with the material at his disposal, has presented the facts in workmanlike shape. His budgets are those of a business executive. The chief point of interest, however, is that it should not take an expenditure of upwards of $30,000,000 to administer the provincial affairs of a population of some 700,000 persons. Two-thirds of that amount would be amply sufficient and the relief that would be provided by such a reduction would mean more than anything the present Government has done in giving an impetus to economic well-being.

With all the lavish provincial expenditures that have been undertaken the records of unemployment show that work and wages have not been provided for the people. The Administration has been unable to meet its share of unemployment relief costs out of current revenue. Any Budget is interpreted according to the political party's viewpoint. The main interest of the taxpayers as a whole is whether or not they are going to experience relief. In this respect they must be disappointed in the latest Budget.

MODERN PSYCHOLOGY

There are signs that common sense is victoriously asserting itself even in the counsels and lucubrations of the psychoanalysts themselves. Psychology is undoubtedly an important branch of science. It is erroneous to suppose, however, that any good can come from pursuing psychology as if it were a mere game or entertainment. In point of fact it is a severe and exacting discipline. Popular books have appeared in considerable numbers which deal with the subject in a superficial manner. They furnish the reader with a number of words and phrases which have a semi-scientific sound and almost persuade him that he has mastered this interesting branch of knowledge. Books on the psychology of this and that, of war, of salesmanship, of sport, of aviation, or what not, seem to suggest that a man can hardly drive a nail properly, a woman can hardly sweep a floor as if it ought to be swept, unless he or she has made an exhaustive investigation into the sensations, muscular reactions, emotions, and cognitive processes involved in the entire transaction.

There is no such magic virtue in psychology. On the contrary, as sound psychologists are now pointing out, it is very easy for people to dwell too much upon their mental processes and emotional experiences. As one noted authority remarks, the old oracle "Know thyself" is not without its serious dangers, and he suggests that it should be largely superseded by a much more useful bit of advice, namely "Behave yourself." It is too easy for the individual, who sets out to know himself rather than to behave himself, to become a truly self-centered person indeed. It is also a truly dangerous practice to reflect continually upon one's emotional habits and feelings, instinctive and acquired reactions, moods and tenses, fears and obsessions. The modern psychologist, if he knows his job, will discourage this practice. He will point out that the most important and significant feature of these emotional experiences is their transitoriness, that in the normal individual they do not last long. It is true that when we are sorrowful or resentful or envious or despondent we are apt to think that the feeling is here to stay, but common sense comes to our aid and reminds us that these shadows come and go, like other shadows, and that it is infinitely better to let them go than to detain them. The common-sense psychologist will not advise people to nurse and cherish and dwell upon their emotional states. There is authority for the opinion that emotion, when it turns back upon itself and does not lead on to thought or action, is an element of madness. "The taste for emotion," said Sydney Smith, "may become a dangerous taste. We should be very cautious how we attempt to squeeze out of human life more ecstasy and paroxysm than it can well afford."

The self-centered man or woman who resides permanently in an atmosphere of vague aspiration, unfulfilled resolutions, and excuses for neglected opportunities, whose emotions do not lead to and flow into right action is sometimes called an introvert. Standing out in strong contrast is the man of action, who has little time to waste upon mere sentiment, or emotion, or self-analysis, and who without overmuch thinking actually does something concrete in the service of others. It is not easy for the introspective, highly emotional introvert to get out of the mists of emotion and indecision, but it can be done. The first step is to realize that no one by merely taking thought can add anything to his moral stature. Having realized this, let him give over indulging himself in ceaseless analysis of his thoughts and emotions and make a real effort of self-denial in the interest of someone else. Such is the advice offered by the modern psychologist. It sounds very much like old-fashioned common sense.

SIR JOHN ANDERSON

Sir John Anderson, now Minister for Civilian Defence in Great Britain, has only been in Parliament for eight months. His career as a civil servant has been a distinguished one. In 1912 he assisted Mr. Lloyd George in carrying through the health insurance scheme. He helped in the creation of the Ministry of Shipping to fight the German submarine campaign during the Great War. He was on the viceregal staff at Dublin Castle during the trying years preceding the creation of the Free State, and then became under-secretary at the Home Office. His next elevation was to the post of Governor of Bengal. He ran in the March by-election for a Scottish university seat, and was elected by a majority 1,000 votes greater than that secured two years previously by the late Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

Now Sir John, who is noted as an organizer, has the task of transforming Great Britain's civil population into an instrument for its self-protection. He will marshal the forces of the industrial and commercial structure of the country. He will, in fact, organize civilian defence. His capacities for the work for which he has been chosen are great, for he is a man of force and dominant personality as well as resourcefulness. He has been acclaimed as the right man for the right job, the type that inspires confidence.

MR. F. A. LINDSAY

Many phases of the city's life will sadly miss Mr. F. A. Lindsay, for in military, social, philanthropic and sporting circles he was well known and had made his influence felt. His interests were many and to all he brought to bear keen business wisdom and shrewd judgment. He was a staunch supporter of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, of which he was an honorary Lieutenant-Colonel. Among his varied activities during his residence here he had been commodore of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, president of the Victoria and Islands division of the Navy League, and a director of the Queen Alexandra Solarium and the Sunahine Inn. He was a man widely known for his charitable outlook on life and the sympathy of the community will go to his widow, his daughters and other surviving members of his family.

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

Tuesday's election returns in the United States indicate no upheaval in political opinion and afford no definite guide to the possible result of the Presidential elections in two years' time. The policies of Mr. Roosevelt have been approved, not perhaps with the enthusiasm expected but at least in a qualified way. The Democrats will continue to have majorities in both the Senate and the House of Representatives, though in both their leads have been reduced. The people are satisfied with the New Deal. That is the feature of the election, not the gains made by the Republicans. Mr. Roosevelt can continue on his course with a renewed popular mandate.

I have sped by land and sea, and mingled with much people, but never yet could find a spot unsummed by human kindness.—Tupper.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Redistribution of Provincial ridings is going to be a delicate operation, with or without an amicable settlement. Factual objections before the special committee dealing with the subject, after its first meeting, are imposing enough, to say nothing of what may and will be said in the next three weeks to come, as the committee resumes its labors.

Nearest to home, the plan proposes cutting Victoria down from four members to three. Oak Bay, now in Victoria, is suggested as a separate seat. What is now Saanich would become a West Coast riding, entire. Something not yet made clear would happen to Cowichan-Newcastle, with respect to Galiano and Valdes Islands.

Redistribution seems to be a form of musical chairs, with special music. Before the committee yesterday three supporters of the Government argued, politely, what is to become of Cariboo. Cariboo, with a voice of its own in the House, protested its intention to remain in its northern boundary, and lose a gold mine there. It would lose a large slice in the southeast, containing a tourist resort lake, a mountain pass and other things.

To get into Cariboo by the proposed new route, said its spokesman, one would have to take a dog team and travel four days over the mountains, or else fly in by airplane; whereas, now, the same area can be reached by motor car in a few hours from other parts of Cariboo itself, the committee was informed.

Whole towns may be amputated in the process of redistribution. It was brought out, Yale, Lytton, Hope and some other communities may find new members in the next Legislature; to be represented by different seats in the Twentieth Legislative Assembly of the Province. Community of interest, geographical position and economic relations were pleaded in support of the plan. Geographical position was not disputed, towns being more or less fixed on the map; but other considerations were. Once or twice it got down to a recital of where voters lived.

On the mainland, large scale changes are proposed for Dewdney, Burnaby, Kamloops, Port George, Okanagan and at some other points. In Burnaby, rural areas would be divorced from that riding, to be added to Dewdney. Salmon Arm would lose a considerable slice of Kamloops; and so on. The complete effect of what is proposed has not yet crystallized, because there are two plans before the committee, supported by two different maps.

Such suggested change on the map bears on places where people live and have their special interests. In some cases only two persons are concerned; in others, thousands of people. Already there are beginning to develop protests from the people, protesting similar members, and some protests from the committee. Great as was Solomon, it is doubtful if even he would have found an easy solution to redistribution of Provincial ridings; on a plan to start with forty-eight seats, and end with forty-eight seats, and put them in forty-eight different places.

Vancouver Island should follow redistribution proposals with particular interest; because, when the music stops, nearly all the seats will have been moved. Some of them will have new occupants after the next election.

Opolis Real Estate Office Here—Frank G. Richards, well known and well liked throughout the entire province, has opened a real estate and financial agency at 57 Yates Street, where he will transact the business of a real estate agent, land and insurance agent, etc., and will also take up land and surveying. Mr. Richards has had his office very neatly arranged and furnished and parties looking for good investments cannot do better than consult him, as he is just the man to give reliable information.

Tug Loses Boom of Logs.—The tug Vancouver left Burrard Inlet last week with a boom of logs for the Moodyville Mill. The tug returned to Vancouver, B.C., yesterday, and it is reported that while passing Point Atkinson the day previous, during a heavy rain, the boom broke, and the logs scattered. Shortly after her arrival, she left again for the place where the accident occurred, to save as much of the material as possible. The lumber was owned by Roland Brothers.

Fog Horn at Atkinson Point—Arthur Finney returned from Atkinson Point yesterday having completed a contract for the erection of a fog horn building at that place. The machinery is in position, and the fog horn will soon be in working condition.

Where a Nation Pays Its Homage

By Thomas Taylor

Strange it is that the Cenotaph, the memorial in Whitehall road which each November 11 gathers the hosts of Empire to observe the sacred Two Minutes' Silence, should be merely the outcome of chance. Yet such it is.

Ever since the Trojan wars, Cenotaphs have been erected as memorials to the dead. Cenotaphs means literally an empty tomb, and the Greeks set the custom of building them as memorials to their fighting dead buried in other lands. Through out the centuries since then cenotaphs have occasionally been built, but it remained for the Great War to influence their erection on an Empire-wide scale.

Following the example of London, hundreds of cities, towns and villages throughout the British Empire built cenotaphs as memorials to the men and women of their communities who died in the war. To other nations, therefore, the origin of London's Cenotaph, now regarded as England's National Memorial, must seem peculiar. To us it is simply another illustration of the genius for improvisation which seems to be the prerogative of the British race, and which, fortunately enough, is usually attended by happy results.

The British Government had decided to commemorate the first anniversary of the signing of the Armistice by holding a solemn ceremony in Whitehall, London's famous street of government. The King and his chief ministers of state were to attend, and a multitude of people would undoubtedly gather to observe for the first time "The Two Minutes' Silence."

At the last moment it was realized that something tangible must be the focal point of the observance. Sir John Lubbock, the famous architect, was called upon, and in one evening he designed the Cenotaph, which was set up hurriedly in Whitehall.

The day of remembrance came and passed, and a poignant memory was created, symbolized by the austere beauty of the Cenotaph, which seemed to subsume its commonplace surroundings into something noble and inspiring. The emotion of that day was a universal demand that the Cenotaph be made permanent. The temporary model remained in Whitehall until early in 1920, and on the advice of the Advisory Board of War Memorials, an replica in Portland stone, with only slight alteration from the original design, was erected.

This replica, the present impressive Cenotaph, was unveiled by King George V at the second anniversary of the Armistice, November 11, 1920, forming part of the ceremony attending the burial of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey. A portion of the original model is preserved in the Imperial War Museum in Kingston, London. On each side of the Cenotaph are displayed the Union Jack, the White, Red and Blue Ensigns; the only inscriptions are the dates, "1914-1918," and the words, "The Glorious Dead." The improved focal point of the first observance has thus become permanently enshrined in the consciousness of London, and indeed of the whole Empire. Men uncover daily when they pass the Cenotaph, and on November 11, 1938, forming part of the ceremony attending the burial of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey, a portion of the original model is preserved in the Imperial War Museum in Kingston, London.

Dangerous Practice

Perhaps the forces of law and order might give motorists a rest for a few weeks and concentrate upon cyclists who deliberately flout traffic regulations instituted for their own safety. Dozens of push-bike denizens fail to make any signal when about to turn. Others scoot furtively past stop signs. It is a common sight at night to see many without lights on their machines. Just as dangerous to themselves and to motorists are the hordes without rear reflectors affixed to their rear mudguards. Within the space of forty-five minutes we counted eleven in that category on a recent evening. . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, sagely informed us the causes of hearty laughter are a cheerful disposition or good health, or in the case of a woman, pretty teeth. . . . Our tobaccoist friend does not mind people telling lies about him. He is afraid they might start to tell the truth.—G.B.

Glancing Over Sport

Glad tidings speed through the dressing-room of the Dominions Tuesday night at the High School when the team executives and players emerged after a three-hour convalesce and the news was announced by Manager Nicol that Roy Taylor, sharp-shooting forward of three seasons' campaign, had returned to the club after handing in his uniform after last Saturday's game against Stacys. Taylor carries scoring punch, is a clever ball handler and, without doubt, is the showman of the club, and his loss would have been felt by the club as a whole. According to officials, everything is quiet and peaceful on the Western basketball front following that lengthy conference. . . . Selection of the United soccer team for Saturday's game against the Radicals in Vancouver shows a big improvement over the squad which was tripped up by St. Andrews last week by three clear goals. . . . Our Rugby critic tells us that the Navy fifteen will win tomorrow's Armistice Day match against the Garrison at Macdonald Park. He says it will be by a try or maybe a little more when the final whistle sounds. . . . "Doug Feden is the fastest thing I have ever seen on wheels," says Charlie Jasper after seeing him and Torchy win that Montreal six-day race from the famous German team of Killian and Vopel.—J.D.

Remember When

Bill Sherman, English footballer, who was selected for international play in the Old Country, played one game here for the Civic Service and was released because he was not considered a good footballer. . . . Tommy Fielding, Victoria flutist, won the call over Leslie "Wildcat" Carter, sensational negro boxer, at the Tillamook gymnasium. The exciting moments at the same gymnasium when Fielding fought Vic Foley, and Manager Joe Bayley, former king of Canadian lightweight, claimed a foul. Bayley and Jack Allen, Foley's boss, climbed in the ring and staged a great scene. . . . "Dusty" Miller, colored fighter with a punch, who stepped ten rounds with Jimmie Lyall in his first bout at the Tillamook gymnasium. . . . Lyall, living in the city at the time, was a home-town boy and spent most of the evening dancing away from Miller's gloves. . . . The Crystal Garden pool used to be used for boxing shows.—S.T.

A New Racket

If Victoria can only get enough film stars here at once we have a swell plan for the boys who insist on betting on practically every major sporting event that comes off. A lad in Hollywood decided to eliminate the element of chance in football pools—as far as he was concerned—so he drew up a board, and such stars as Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland, Fred McMurray, Lloyd Nolan and Shirley Ross contributed and wrote their names in the squares. Miss Ross won the pool, and as she arrived at the studio the next day, was presented with the prize by the boy. And then he walked out of the front gate and sold the board for $10. It had the autographs on it of most of Paramount's stars.—W.I.F.

Working Time for Hospital Nurse Is Subject of Debate

B.C. Hospitals' Association Convention Being Held Here Devotes Major Part of Two Sessions to Discussion of Matter of Importance

A GENERALLY sympathetic attitude to a forty-eight-hour week for nurses was shown by the nursing group of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association convention in the lengthy discussion during the session yesterday afternoon at the Empress.

The eight-hour day is coming, the best way is to get in and see how best it can be effected to the mutual satisfaction of all," said Miss Helen Randall, registrar for British Columbia, one of the several speakers.

Increased cost, but correspondingly increased efficiency in nursing service was reported by most of the representatives of hospitals in the province that had already adopted the eight-hour day.

GOVERNMENT STUDY

Mrs. Rex Eaton, a member of the Provincial Government committee, specially appointed about a year ago to investigate and make recommendations concerning nurses' living and working conditions, told the morning session that the report was now on file, but she could not disclose its contents.

The major problem in nursing was "hours of work." The forty-eight-hour week with weekly day off, in most other businesses an accepted standard now, had not yet been generally secured in the nursing profession. The committee's aim was to protect nurses against such an obvious injustice as, for instance, having their work spread over a fifteen or sixteen-hour day. The function of the Board of Industrial Relations was to set minimum standards.

Miss Archer, of Nanaimo General Hospital, presided at the roundtable discussion of the eight-hour day for nurses, which was part of the nursing section meeting convened at 2 o'clock under the chairmanship of Miss Elizabeth Clark.

Sister Mary Gregory of St. Joseph's Hospital, who led the discussion, said it was recalled that hospital costs and hours of work were closely related, but a principle that must be established was the welfare of the patient and the health of the nurse. From the standpoint of the patient, long hours for the nurse impaired service. More students and more graduate nurses would follow the adoption of the eight-hour day.

Miss Cavers, Vancouver General Hospital, said that under the present system, nursing schools were financed "on what could be spared from the hospital budget." It was time nursing schools were put on a financial basis, in which payment was given all instructors, which meant trained nurse instructors in each particular phase of nursing.

A large proportion of tuberculosis among nurses could be trained to breakdown of health resulting from long hours, said Miss Randall.

RESULTS SATISFACTORY

Percy Ward, Vancouver hospital inspector, supplemented what Miss Lee, representing North Vancouver Hospital, reported about the successful results of the adoption of the eight-hour day there.

If the straight three-shift plan per day were put into effect for nursing service, the increased cost would vary from 30 to 33 per cent, thought Miss Grace Fairley, national president of the Registered Nurses of Canada.

Miss Lena Mitchell, supervisor of nursing at Jubilee Hospital, said their problem was not the eight-hour day, but the fitting of lectures into the eight-hour day.

Others contributing to the discussion were the secretary of the Kamloops Hospital; J. Q. Nicholls (Nanaimo), a public health worker who noted that the public-health nurse, "probably because she was a later product," had had no difficulty in getting the eight-hour day, and J. H. McVety, Vancouver, who said an order for the eight-hour day would mean an addition of $100,000 per year to the operating costs of the Vancouver General.

FOOD SERVICE

Food service in hospitals was still far short of perfection, admitted Miss Helen Kline, B.Sc., dietitian at the Royal Columbia Hospital, New Westminster, in the course of a talk on "Some Aspects of the Food Problem in Hospitals."

Miss Lena Blomberg, assistant director of nurses at Esquimalt, gave a report on psychiatric affiliation.

Miss Kathleen Sanderson, honorary secretary of the Canadian Nursing Association, gave a report of the annual convention of the association.

R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., was the speaker at the luncheon gathering yesterday, when delegates to the convention were the guests of the Women's Auxiliary and the sister Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. K. F. Brandon, provincial epidemiologist, spoke at the morning session on "Control of Disease in Hospitals and Communities."

The Thanks of the Community Chest of Greater Victoria

Are extended to all those generous residents of Greater Victoria who, by donations and good wishes, time and labor, have helped raise funds for the twenty-four social agencies and charitable organizations which the Community Chest of Greater Victoria represents.

The Chest requires $89,297 for the coming year. Up to this time the sum of $77,000 has been received or pledged, leaving $12,000 still to be obtained.

There may be some people who have not yet made a donation, but would like to do so. Perhaps they, through an unintended oversight, have not been canvassed or were out when the canvasser called. As the $12,000 must be raised if the charities represented by the Chest are not to be crippled in their work, the Chest Campaign Committee is also asking all who have helped to, if possible, increase their donations. Please telephone G 1012 or E 7911, or call at the Community Chest Headquarters, 1205 Government Street (Corner of View).

Armistice Ball Set for Tonight

The passage of years brings a measure of forgetfulness, but Victorians have proven by the loyal support accorded the Armistice Ball that they are still mindful of those men who returned, handicapped, from the battlefields of France.

Six years ago, when the first Armistice Ball was staged, the Amputations Club introduced a new and refreshing mode of ballroom entertainment into the social life of Victoria. Each successive year has added to its laurels, and this year the club has outdone itself in preparing an entirely new setting. Prior to the commencement of festivities tonight, many private supper parties will be held, after which the revelers will converge on the Empress Hotel, where they can enjoy the restful pleasure of luxurious lounge rooms and dance in an aura of glamour and color, while the smooth flowing rhythms of the orchestra music weaves spells of enchantment.

Among the many distinguished patrons are His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber, Premier T. D. Pattullo, Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., retired; Brigadier J. C. Stewart, Mayor Andrew McGavin, Mrs. W. C. Nichol and others.

Tickets may be obtained at the Empress Hotel, the Capital Shoe Store, 606 Fort Street, or from members of the Amputations Club.

The business meeting of the branch was held Monday evening. The opening devotional service was led by the president, Miss L. Trickett. Final arrangements were made for the Ariel Singers' recital, to be given under the auspices of the branch, on November 23, at 8 o'clock, in the church schoolroom. The WISE WAY TO BUY POULTRY

No longer is it difficult for Canadian housewives to select exactly the quality of poultry they want. For poultry is graded according to standards established by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

LOOK FOR THE GRADE TAG
There are three grades of poultry—A, B and C. Each grade may be readily identified by a coloured grade tag on the bird's breast or wing. The colours of these grade tags are: Red for Grade A, Blue for Grade B, and Yellow for Grade C. So—to be sure of getting the quality of poultry you desire—ask for it by grade; then see that the grade tag on the bird corresponds with the grade you request.

W. Lloyd Morgan Standing For Re-election at Forthcoming Contest

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the finance committee of the City Council, will be a candidate for re-election at the forthcoming aldermanic contest, according to an announcement which he made yesterday.

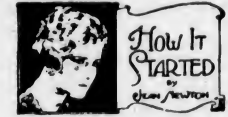

He declared that his platform would again be one of aggressive economic and honest administration of civic affairs.

Referring to his pre-election promises two years ago, Alderman Morgan stated that for the first time in years taxes had been reduced by approximately 11 per cent during the term of office. A deficit in the city funds of $61,526 for the year preceding his election had been followed a year later by a balanced budget with a cash surplus of $111,000.

The current year shows every promise of yielding another surplus of more than $200,000, Alderman Morgan stated. "For the first time in years, capital sums have been set aside and expended to rehabilitate our dilapidated physical assets."

"An honorable refunding of our civic debt has been accomplished, with the exception of certain phases which were beyond my control. An honest, efficient, and fair administration of our civic affairs has been my constant aim. While I am not entirely satisfied with the results, certain progress has been made, and there remains much to be accomplished."

"I have a firm belief in Victoria's future, and the fact that I find myself faced today with a personal municipal tax bill in excess of $6,000 annually," Alderman Morgan said, in stating his determination to carry on his fight for lower taxes.

How It Started

WHY IS ARKANSAS CALLED THE WONDER STATE?

Arkansas used to be known as the Bear State, the Hot Water State and the Toothpick State, which latter cognomen rates a story all by itself.

Now, these Arkansasans are a proud race; too busy while they were up and coming to pay much attention to these old handles, when they "arrived," they had a yen for a designation that would be more embracing, one that would tell all and all at once, a name which would be so revealing and apropos that the great prevalence of bears and bowie knives in its frontier days, together with its hot springs, and hard-woods in quantities sufficient to place the state in the forefront, and its agricultural and horticultural prowess recognized not only in the United States, but in foreign countries as well, and

"Whereas, it is an admitted fact that the State of Arkansas excels all others in natural resources, its store of mineral wealth being practically inexhaustible, its vast forests supplying pine and hardwoods in quantities sufficient to place the state in the forefront, and its agricultural and horticultural prowess recognized not only in the United States, but in foreign countries as well, and

"Whereas, the publicity campaign of the Arkansas Advancement Association has so indelibly stamped upon the mind of the world that Arkansas is 'The Wonder State'; and

"Whereas, this title is so befitting, while the old one, 'The Bear State,' is a misnomer, and leads to a false impression, while 'The Wonder State' is accurate and is deserving of special recognition; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, the House of Representatives concurring

"That we accept the name, 'The Wonder State,' given us by this patriotic association which has done so much to acquaint the world with Arkansas and its wealth of resource, and we hereby specially proclaim that hereafter Arkansas shall be known and styled 'The Wonder State.'"

DISEASED TONSILS AND EYE INFECTIONS

I have spoken before of an expert air pilot who began to make poor landings. On reporting to his medical officer, it was found that he had infected tonsils. After the tonsils were removed his landings were perfect.

"Unfortunately, unless an individual has a sore throat from tonsils to time, he does not suspect his tonsils of causing trouble; though small they may contain pus which poisons the blood stream.

Dr. M. Martin Kafka, Brooklyn, N.Y., in Medical World, says:

"There may be such complicated cases from infected tonsils as acute arthritis (rheumatism), acute middle ear infection, acute heart disease, acute bronchitis and acute sinusitis. If the infected tonsils are not removed, the acute complication (bronchitis, sinusitis, middle ear disease) may become chronic and thus make a periodic invalid of the patient."

Among the eye conditions found by Dr. Kafka due to infected tonsils are inflammation of the eyelids and eyeballs, interference with the lens, thus affecting the eyesight, and disturbances in color vision.

In order to test properly an eye disease it is not only necessary to test the effect of treatment on the eye disease itself, but one must also search for the possible point of infection elsewhere. Patients are urged to get rid of this other infection before the eyes are treated. There are, however, patients who refuse to have their infected tonsils removed. In such conditions the treatment for the eye condition fails.

When the infected tonsils are large and the patient says that he gets frequent colds and sore throats and that usually he is tired and weak he is usually willing to have the tonsils removed.

When the infected tonsils are not

'CARNIVAL QUEEN' IS NOW AT PLAZA

Dorothea Kent Has Starring Role in Dramatic Story of Circus Life

A brave and beautiful girl fights alone against the world. Her father gone. Her fortune lost in the depression. Her future depending on the income from a carnival, which a dangerous band of crooks is trying to steal away from her.

That is the dramatic situation in "Carnival Queen," which will open today at the Plaza Theatre.

Dorothea Kent portrays the heroine, who takes personal charge of the carnival and wages a fight to the finish with the thieves. Robert Wilcox has the romantic lead opposite Miss Kent.

"Army Girl" is the exciting story of life in an army post on the Mexican border. Madge Evans and Preston Foster are starred, and the supporting cast includes such famous names as Jimmy Gleason, Ruth

"The Trigger Trio" Promises Special Attraction for Lovers of Dog Actors

Dog lovers will be enthusiastic over the current Republic Western, "The Trigger Trio," which will open today at the Columbia Theatre.

"Buck," who has won his laurels with a long succession of screen triumphs, proves again that animal actors can be as appealing and interpret the same emotions as human actors.

The "Three Mesquiteers," Ralph Byrd, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, star in this attraction, which presents Sandra Corday, a newcomer, in the leading feminine role.

VIRGINIA BRUCE AND FREDRIC MARCH STAR

"Dirtyside," a motion picture set was a recent two-week job for the construction crew at the Hal Roach Studios.

An entire newspaper city room, needed for scenes in "There Goes My Heart," the comedy romance starring Fredric March and Virginia Bruce, and coming Monday to the Plaza Theatre, was built on a sound stage and modeled from city rooms of Los Angeles newspapers.

After the set was erected and telephones, teletypes and other equipment was moved in, the crew littered the desks and floor with newspapers, clippings and other debris scattered in the course of a day in a news office.

COMPANY IS NOTED FOR SHOWMANSHIP

"While the San Francisco Opera Ballet, which will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre on November 21, is noted for its artistic performance, an outstanding feature of the company is its showmanship.

The spirit of youth, its verve and colorful dramatic exuberance have placed it in the class of good popular entertainment. Each production is not only a lovely creation, but a good show. The ballerinas are young and beautiful, in their early twenties. Among the men the same spirit of youth prevails.

A full company of dancers will be brought here in ballets with gorgeous costumes. Familiar music from Tchaikovsky, Johann Strauss, Schubert and Gounod's "Faust" will be given with the ballets.

HOW TO SELL MANUSCRIPTS

Invite the editors to dinner. Obtain and submit letters of introduction from persons famous in the literary world.

Submit two articles at a time, one poorly written so the other will benefit by contrast.

State that you are in dire financial straits.

But for best results—write something good.

SNOW FORECAST FOR LOCAL AREA

Scattered Flurries or Light Sleet Is Predicted for Victoria District

Should the forecast from the observatory on top of Gonzales Hill become a fact, citizens of Victoria and vicinity will have to do a little extra stoking of furnaces during the next two or three days. The official bulletin, issued at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, states that "an extensive cold air mass of high pressure is approaching British Columbia from the Yukon, and a shallow depression is centred south of the province and it is becoming colder in all districts."

The forecast for the twenty-four hours after 5 o'clock yesterday is given as follows: "Fresh northeast winds, partly cloudy, sharp frost at night and probably a few scattered snow flurries or light sleet."

The lowest temperature for the twenty-four hours preceding 5 o'clock yesterday was given in the bulletin as 34 degrees and the highest 44, with 27 degrees on the ground. The barometer reading at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning was 29.68, and the wind, northwest, six miles an hour. There were two hours and thirty minutes sunshine yesterday.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING TODAY

Transportation Franchise And Other Questions to Be Discussed

The transportation franchise question will be further discussed by the City Council at a meeting called by Mayor Andrew McGavin for 7:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is not expected, however, that the revised draft of the proposed form of tender, specifications, and instructions to tenderers for a passenger franchise will be ready for presentation to the council today.

The recommendation of the franchise committee that $2,500 should be set aside for the work by R. W. Beck's department in connection with the preparation of a franchise by-law, and that the municipalities of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt should be asked to contribute towards the expense of Mr. Beck's investigation of public utilities and the franchise question, will come before the council.

Also to be considered is a communication received at the City Hall following the recent joint meeting of the councils of the three municipalities requesting an assurance from the city that no tenders be called or other formal action taken respecting transportation until the municipal councils concur in such action, and suggesting the immediate appointment of a joint transportation committee of two representatives from the city and each of the three municipal councils.

Correspondence on other questions to come before today's meeting includes a request from the Victoria Polo Club for assistance from the council in the provision of a playing field in the race track oval.

ARION CLUB TO BE HEARD IN CONCERT

The Arion Club, Victoria's premier male voice organization, which is now nearing the half-century mark of musical activity in Victoria, will hold its first concert of the season on Wednesday evening, November 30, under the direction of W. C. Fyfe. Owing to several numbers on the prepared programme requiring an organ accompaniment, the concert will be held at the First United Church.

This season will see new faces among the members as many young men with excellent voices have joined the Arions, and two of them will be heard in solos.

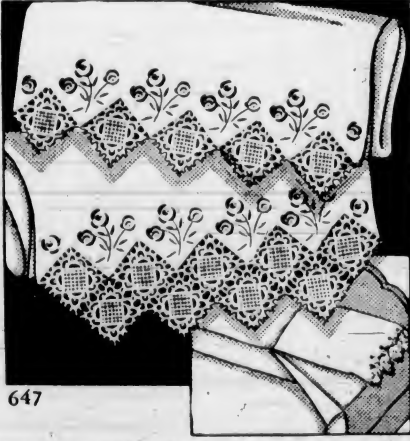

The club is fortunate in securing the services as assisting artist of Mrs. Eunice Crain (formerly Eunice Prosser), Tacoma. This gifted artist on the violin is a native daughter of Victoria and played in this city at a joint concert of the Arion and Orpheus Clubs many years ago.

NATIVE SONS OF CANADA

The regular meeting of Victoria Assembly, No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Forester's Hall. This being the first business session under the officers-elect, it is requested that all members attend this meeting.

CROCHET AND EMBROIDERY PILLOW CASE TRIM—DESIGN 647

Dear Readers: Our designer spent last week-end in the country. She came home with a rough sketch of this floral spray in her notebook and one of the medallions in her handbag. We think she designed it off Aunt Mary's linens, but she declares, "I crocheted it myself. A dainty design for Christmas-gift pillow slips, sheets, runners, dresser and vanity sets and towels."

The pattern includes transfers and directions for making two pairs of pillow slips, material requirements and all directions for finishing.

LADYSMITH, Nov. 9.—E. Lowe was appointed secretary pro tem at the monthly meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, in place of E. Heyes, who had resigned. The new secretary has been one of the most consistent Board of Trade members since the reorganization of the group ten years ago.

The movement of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to have the Mill Bay ferry service maintained was endorsed on the grounds that, despite improved road conditions, over the Malahat, the ferry provided a needed alternative link in Island Highway transportation when adverse road conditions demanded it.

MEAT HAWKING CONTROL ASKED

Amendments to Municipal Act Considered by Legislative Committee

Power for municipalities to prohibit or regulate the sale of meat by hawkers, peddlers and hucksters was sought in a Municipal Act amendment bill considered by the legislative committee of the Legislature yesterday morning. Following discussion of the proposal with municipal representatives, the committee stood the matter over for consideration in camera.

While approving legislation to cover the peddling of meat, Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., was opposed to any interference with small farmers who gained a livelihood by selling poultry.

Rev. R. M. Grauer, Richmond, who sponsored the proposal, stated that the Metropolitan Health Board was in favor of power being given to regulate the sale of meat.

J. A. Paton, M.P.P., stated that the object of the Metropolitan Health Board was prevention of disease rather than cure, and he considered that legislation to prevent the indiscriminate hawking of meat would assist the board.

OBJECTIONABLE NOISES

The committee approved a clause in the bill to provide for the regulation, control, restriction or prohibition of objectionable noises in public or private premises.

An amendment to the Municipal Act to allow municipalities to enter into the Dominion Low Rental Housing Act plan was sought by Mrs. R. P. Steeves, M.P.P., and it was resolved that the matter should be taken up with the legislative council.

pending of money not exceeding $200 in any one year to aid in the establishment, development, maintenance, and operation of airports, seaplane harbors and landing areas either within or without municipalities was sought in a bill to amend the Village Municipalities Act.

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., questioned whether an amount up to $200 would be of any use in the development of an airport, but it was explained that the provision was sought not for the laying out of new airports, but to enable municipalities to provide small improvements for the convenience of the public and of airplanes landing. In the case of lakes used by seaplanes, such an amount would provide landing floats.

The committee approved the proposal.

ELEVATOR IS REOPENED

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 9 (P).—The Eastern Grain Elevator Corporation's 2,000,000-bushel electric elevator, idle for almost two years, has been reopened. The elevator is to be placed in operation this year. Work was begun yesterday unloading 270,000 bushels of grain.

PROTESTS ON B.C. RIDINGS

Recarving of Political Boundaries Attacked as Committee Opens Hearings

Two plans for redistributing boundaries of British Columbia ridings were tabled before the special committee of the Provincial Legislature at an initial meeting yesterday. One plan was that produced by Premier Pattullo in the House. The other was by way of amendments to the first plan, on a basis suggested by the Surveyor-General. Several clashes followed before the committee adjourned, after a two-hour sitting, until next Wednesday.

Outright protest against the elimination of "The Islands" riding was laid before the committee by W. M. Mouat, president of the Islands' Liberal Association, and a delegation from that riding.

The protest was strongly supported by Captain M. F. Macintosh, sitting member for the riding, who said that the people of the riding were overwhelmingly against the plan, which would link a reduced riding to Nanaimo, with which it has no direct connection.

HISTORIC SEAT

For forty years The Islands has been a separate entity, with more than 3,500 persons resident, it was brought out. Mr. Mouat asked for the return of Gabriola and Valdes Islands, once part of the district, but now attached to Cowichan-Newcastle. If a reduction had to be made, the Government could take one seat away from Victoria—the suggested, unaware that the plan proposes just that.

G. M. Phillips, deputy registrar of voters at Vancouver, told the committee he had been instructed by the Government to prepare his plan, upon which would later be based a redistribution bill by way of amendments to the Constitution Act. He had proceeded, he said, on the basis of community of interest, geographical relation, and economic connection.

PEOPLE INSISTED

Proposed changes in Vancouver Island ridings were suggested "at the insistence of the people," Mr. Phillips declared. Elsewhere, it was a question of adding isolated towns to their nearest Provincial agencies and of altering boundaries to agree with mining, lands, and other divisional borders.

The committee began a riding-by-riding consideration of Mr. Phillips' draft. It proceeded alphabetically from Atlin to Kamloops with serious proposals already published, developing chiefly a contest between Liberal members as to how their new ridings would be drawn.

Louis LeBourdais (Liberal, Cariboo) protested extraction of a small square in the north, containing a gold mine; and a large section in the south comprising, he said, an area which could only be reached through his riding, short of a four-day journey by dog-team or by airplane.

R. H. Carson (Liberal-Kamloops) spoke to changes whereby it is proposed Kamloops be enlarged by additions from Salmon Arm and other ridings. The suggestion that Kamloops take Valemont and Albrechts was deleted, at suggestions from the Government side. The committee tentatively approved additions involving a section of Salmon Arm and a piece in the Adams Lake region.

George M. Murray (Liberal, Lillooet) and H. G. Perry (Liberal, Port George) supported the plan whereby their ridings are to receive pieces of Cariboo. Mr. Perry, a member of the redistribution committee, said he would not vote on changes dealing with his own riding.

MINISTER'S RIDING

In the absence of Hon. W. J. Asquith, who represents Atlin, the committee approved changes there, as suggested in the Surveyor-General's plan. Burnaby, to lose all its rural areas to Dewdney, was stood over, as were several other ridings whose members were not present.

Speaking of the proposals in general, R. L. Maitland, K.C., leader of the Opposition, said they appeared to have been prepared on a purely political basis. He reserved Conservative objections until time had been secured in which to consult ridings affected.

Colin Cameron (C.F., Comox) supported protests from The Islands and declared that the redistribution proposals so far discussed "had violated every principle claimed for their compilation."

After desultory discussion, the committee voted to adjourn for a week, by which time copies of proposed changes in the electoral law of the province will also be laid before the group.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Do you ever get tired of hearing a partner say, after your side has stopped short of an easy game, "Why, I didn't know we could make a game, partner. You only over-called."

This strange philosophy (that overcalls don't mean much) is probably a throwback to auction days, when it was the practice of average players to overcall every time the spirit moved them, and almost regardless of their holding.

The fact is, of course, that overcalls mean a great deal. Not vulnerable, a player shows about four winners when he overcalls at the one level, and five winners at the two level. Vulnerable, he must have one trick more. Thus, as will be seen, an overcall, particularly when it is made at the two level, vulnerable, guarantees more winners than are promised by a player who opens the bidding with a suit bid of one.

Let us analyze the following hand: West, dealer. North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

West dealt and passed. North passed also, and East mentioned one club. South overcalled with a spade, and West gave a questionable single raise in clubs. North entered the arena with a bid of two hearts. This was a decided understatement of North's strength. His hand had almost warranted an opening heart bid. Indeed, despite the lack of the orthodox two and one-half honor tricks, a heart opening could not be severely criticized. Under that circumstance, and the further fact that his partner had shown a hand with five winners, North should have taken more determined action on this very round, not leaving it to chance that his partner might make another bid. Game should have appeared a near certainty to North either in hearts, spades, or, possibly, diamonds, and he should have conveyed that fact to South by bidding, not two, but three hearts.

Over North's actual bid of two hearts, and East's pass, South was in a very difficult situation. Surely he could not rebid his anemic five card spade suit. He could not raise a mere two heart bid when holding a singleton. He could not go to two no trump with a single club stopper and such unbalanced distribution. So, in the final analysis, his choice narrowed down to a pass and a bid of three diamonds. Either course would have its merits and its disadvantages. I do not think that South's conservative decision to pass can be severely criticized. As will be seen, however, a laydown game in hearts was missed. Perhaps some players, holding South's hand, would have bid three diamonds and thus opened the way to a heart rebid by North, which then would reassure South into raising with the singleton ace. But the point is that North's failure to make the proper bid over two clubs created a problem where none really existed.

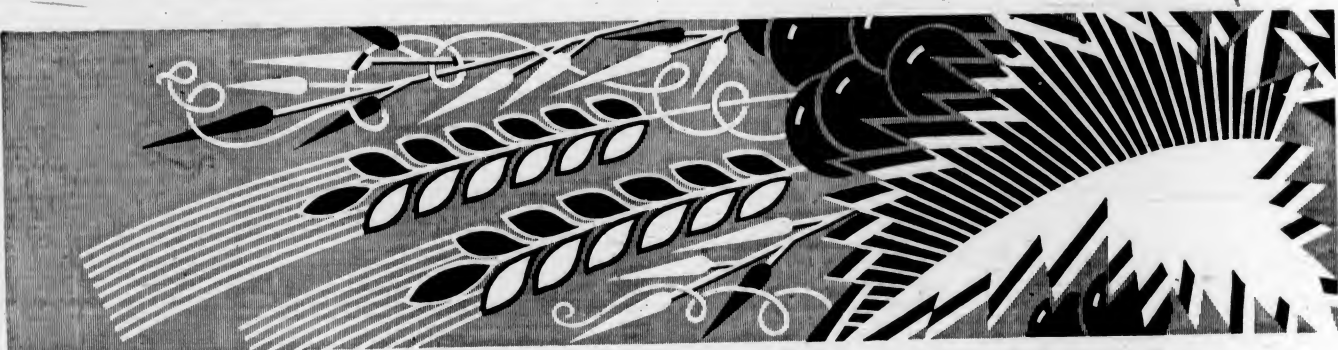

I again call readers' attention to the fact that the second annual National Self-Raising Bridge Examination starts soon. Full details, including the form the examination will take, and the method of rating one's self, will be found in this column. I heartily invite all bridge players to take advantage of this interesting examination, which, of course, will be given completely without charge to the readers of this newspaper.

DOMINOES SCORE EASY VICTORY IN LEAGUE GAME

Scotland Defeats Wales in Closely Fought Match, 3-2

Crowd of 55,000 Watch Home Eleven Win International Soccer Game—First Victory Over Wales Since 1934—Score Is Tied at the Half—One More Game Remains

EDINBURGH, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Scotland made a determined bid for the international soccer title today by defeating Wales, 3-2, in a thrilling match here. Victory over England in the final match of the series, April 15, will give the Scots the honor for the first time since 1906.

The selectors received much criticism by choosing a team in which Celtic had only one representative and Rangers none. Six Anglo-Scots were included in the eleven which delighted a crowd of 55,000.

Coming after a 2-0 triumph over Ireland last month the victory was notable because the Scots had not beaten Wales since 1934. A few weeks ago the Welshmen overcame England, 4-2.

Scotland and Wales have met fifty-nine times since inauguration of the series in 1876. The Northerners have been successful in thirty-seven matches, and Wales, ten. Twelve have been drawn. Last year at Cardiff the home team won 2-1.

DOMINANT GAME
Scotland dominated two-thirds of the game with Wales. The visitors brought a crack forward line, including three of Arsenal's high-priced stars, but poorly fed by its harassed halfbacks, their efforts were sporadic and usually fell to pieces on a rock-like defense.

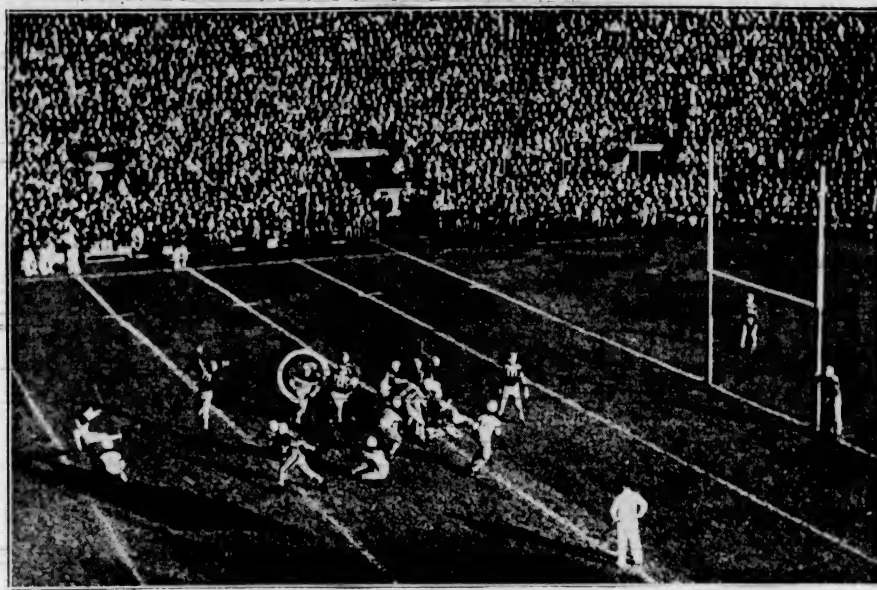

FIRST HALF
Scotland kicked off when Wales won the toss. It was some time before the forwards settled down, but Bryn Jones missed badly soon after the start with a thirty-yard drive.

The Welsh forward moved into position, but failed to pierce the defense, and then the Scots dominated the play for a time. Miller, Shankly, Walker and Deane participated in a promising raid, which ended when one of the Welsh defenders kicked outside. McCulloch was fouled and John brought off a masterly save from Miller's twenty-five-yard drive.

A few minutes later Gillick got the ball into the Welsh net, but the referee had previously whistled for a foul. The ball was quickly taken to the other end where Askey put the visitors in the lead with a capital shot.

Whitley sent a long pass to Hopkins, who crossed to Askey. The Derby county centre forward crashed the ball into the net, Brown having no chance to save.

Varsity Gridders Score Win Over Westerns

If this attempted placement kick had been a success, University of Western Ontario Mustangs would have scored a grid win over Varsity Blues in an Eastern inter-collegiate Rugby tilt in Toronto. But the charging Varsity line hurried Al Hilton as he tried the placement, with only one minute to play and the Blues leading 8-7. The kick was low, and Varsity linemen smothered the oval. Hurley is the lad kneeling to hold the sphere, and the ball, sailing low, can be seen in the white circle. It was a dramatic climax to a tough grid struggle that saw Varsity score their winning touchdown only four minutes before the end of the game.

ENGLAND IN SOCCER WIN

Englishmen Score 4-0 Victory Over Norway on Newcastle Ground

NEWCASTLE, England, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Scoring all its goals in the first half, England triumphed, 4-0, over a sturdy Norwegian soccer team before a crowd of 30,000 spectators on Newcastle United's ground today. Last year at Oslo the Englishmen won, 6-0.

The home players outclassed their less-experienced opponents. The Norwegians showed up well in mid-field, work, but were definitely inferior in finishing movements.

J. R. Smith, Millwall outside left, scored two goals. (Arsenal); halfbacks, Willingham (Huddersfield Town), Cullis (Wolverhampton Wanderers), Wright (Newcastle United); forwards, Matthews (Stoke City), Broome (Aston Villa), Lawton (Everton), Dix (Derby County), Smith (Millwall); halfbacks, L. Martin, Holmen; halfbacks, Henriksen, Erickson, Holmberg; forwards, Hilleen, Kvalheim, A. Mathisen, Asken, Brustad.

UNDEFEATED LEADERS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT OVER DAIRIES, 46-22

Art Chapman and Bert Davies High Scorers as Dominoes Continue Winning Streak in City League Play—Units Beat Adverts, 17-15—Eight Aces Trim Ramblers, 27-16

Trouncing the -Palm Dairies' hoopers, lowly cellar occupants in the men's senior "A" basketball division, 46-22, yesterday evening at the High School gymnasium, Dominoes completed their first round of local competition undefeated. In their opening clash they turned back the Northwestern Dairy and followed that success by humbling the Senators.

Smart, early sniping by Art Chapman, veteran centre, who caged ten of his twelve points in the opening session, paved the way to an easy victory for the Dominoes. The eventual winners, always in front, set up a 6-0 lead in the first four minutes of play before Barbour potted the first basket of the evening for the dairymen. From that stage on the Dominoes literally ran roughshod over their opposition and wound up the half with the score 21-8 in their favor.

SECOND STRINGERS
Coach Coley Chambers sent his second-string line into action as the half opened, and Manager Dave Nicol rested Chuck Chapman, husky guard and captain of the Dominoes. Palms made their best showing in the first ten minutes of the final session and caged eleven points to the Dominoes' fourteen, but when Chapman returned to the maple court the dairymen were forced to do most of their shooting from long range. Their shots failed to find the hoop, and the game ended with the Dominoes more than doubling the score, the final tally being 46-22. Art Chapman was high scorer with an even dozen points, while "Red" Davies was next in line with four field baskets and one foul.

Barbour was the leading pointer-getter for the Palms, sinking two baskets and scoring once from the foul strip.

Dominoes scored twenty field baskets and potted six of twenty-one shots from the strip. Palms fired home ten field baskets and scored two of their six free shots.

Manager Dave Nicol announced last night that Eric Cox, former member of the Washington Huskies cage squad, has been appointed coach of the Dominoes. Cox was on the bench for the first time last night and directed the plays and player changes.

LOSES CLOSE GAME
Showing a marked improvement in their all-round play, Bob Whyte's Adverts dropped a heart-breaking 17-15 decision to Tull's Units in the curtain raiser, a women's league fixture. The Adverts set up a 6-2 lead at the end of the first quarter, but at the half-way mark the quintettes were tied 6-6. Units finished one point in front at the three-quarter mark and dropped home the deciding points just as the gong ended the keenly-fought tussle.

Coach Alex McKeachie's smooth-functioning Eight Aces, gaily attracted in their red and blue satin uniforms, played smart basketball to defeat the Ramblers, 27-16. The eventual winners were on the right end of an 11-6 score at the breather and outscored their opponents 16-10 in the final half.

UNWORKABLE PLAN TO GO

Practicable a plan to divide Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states with Jerusalem and Nazareth remaining with a strip of coast under British mandate. Opposition to the new report immediately developed. The Jewish Agency issued a statement declaring its terms could not be accepted. The Woodhead Commission indicated partition would not be feasible because Jewish and Arab interests were too firmly intermeshed in the land where 1,317 persons have been killed and 1,141 wounded in violence of the past four months. Approximately 20,000 British troops now are attempting to quell rebellious Arabs in troubled Palestine.

TO CALL CONFERENCE

The British Government plans to call a London conference soon, with Arabs represented by their leaders both from Palestine and neighboring Arab nations, and Jews by the Jewish Agency, world Jewish organization, empowered by the League of Nations to perform such a function.

Government quarters said rejection of the partition scheme did not rule out possibility of setting up Arab and Jewish cantons, or provinces, in a federated system. Such a plan would have Britain in control of the strategic country which flanks her vital Suez Canal route to the Far East.

A hint that Jewish immigration to the "homeland" promised by the Balfour declaration in 1917 might be curtailed was contained in the commission report, which said:

TO SAFEGUARD ARABS

It is essential that Arab fear of economic domination should be removed. . . . Arabs must be told in precise and unequivocal terms exactly what safeguards are proposed in order to protect them against future domination by the Jews.

The Arabs are alarmed by influx of Jews which, since 1919, has raised their number from 88,000 to approximately 400,000.

The Jewish Agency announced that although last year it had unsuccessfully proposed a Jewish-Arab appeasement conference, it could not agree to further discussions except on the basis of the mandate and the Balfour declaration giving the Jews a homeland.

"It has been the consistent policy of the Zionist movement and the Jewish Agency to seek understanding with the Arabs," the statement said, "but we cannot conceal our grave apprehensions with regard to the procedure proposed to be adopted by His Majesty's Government of bringing in the neighboring Arab states to the conference table."

NO SPECIAL STATUS

"Those states have no special status with regard to Palestine, in so far as they are members of the League of Nations their rights are no greater than those of other states that are members of the League, or of the United States."

COAST DEFENCES

Sir.—In your issue of the 28th instant you publish the substance of an address to the Rotarians of Victoria given by Colonel R. L. Fort, R.C.A. Since both the General Officer commanding Military District No. 11 and Colonel Fort are distinguished graduates from the Royal Military Academy, Kingston, the latter officer has to say as to military affairs on this Western coast merits attention.

There are one or two points made in Colonel Fort's address that will bear elucidation, maybe criticism.

Are those twenty-year-old guns our old friends the pair of 9.2's that decorated the base of Signal Hill? If so, they have grown much younger since I last saw them. Be that as it may, I do not think that there are any guns in the forts near Victoria that have a range of twenty miles, comfortable or otherwise.

England, engaged in an armament marathon, has certainly no guns to spare, so that it would be a case of "no more on the part of the Canadian military authorities to fabricate guns and other munitions of war in arsenals within Canada. On this coast we have foundries and machine shops to our hands capable of turning out weapons of war—at Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and Prince Rupert. Nanaimo, for choice, being nearest to our forts. Guns and munitions of war can be fashioned in the most unlikely places. During the Boer War guns, or a gun, were made in the small—very small—railway shops of Mafeking, at which point the railway engineers put one of Admiral Nelson's guns in such shape that it attained a range of over three thousand yards—and goodness knows how much more before the obus finished rolling. Kimberley, Pretoria and Johannesburg also went into the munition and gun trade, while British sailors made ships' guns available for defence of Ladysmith.

During the war of 1914-19, guns and ammunition were made in the railway shops at Cairo by an engineer named Garland. My men handled some of Garland's guns on Gallipoli, and guns and men were just as popular there as were the trench-mortar men in France. On Gallipoli we also made bombs, and fitted rifles with periscopes—mostly done with a pair of tinners' shears. Of course, Canada can make her own guns and munitions, under adequate supervision.

Colonel Fort's remarks concerning accurate target practice are welcome, as now we know that the Victoria artillerists are keeping up a reputation earned and kept during the past thirty-odd years. That allusion to fog on the Strait of Juan de Fuca tickled me—certainly there is no fog there, but more at Ottawa. I disagree with Colonel Fort as to strategic points being adequately guarded. Berkeley Sound is not guarded, and that is the key to the whole strategic situation on this coast—Berkeley Sound, Alberni, York Island is the strategic line. The Victoria forts are not in any military picture. Hostile warships won't steam the length of Juan de Fuca Strait merely for the pleasure of engaging the old or new—guns. Canada should take warning from the known weakness of Great Britain to begin a war light-heartedly with weapons not so new as they might be. I will give one illustration: At the outbreak of the Boer War my regiment offered, at its own cost, a battery of modern artillery made at Emsworth. The offer was turned down—but later accepted—and was the first quick-firing battery with "fixed ammunition" to take the field for Britain.

Naturally, a plant to turn out guns costs money. But the money and the artifice can and must be found. It is no good waiting for the ball to open before reaching for dress shirts and dancing pumps.

CHARLES FLICK, Lieut.-Colonel (Retired) Canadian Militia, Mayne Island, B.C., October 31, 1938.

CONTROLLING FOOD PRICES Sir.—In your issue of November 1, reporting an address by G. R. Matthews, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, it is stated: "Mr. Matthews cleared up the point that had been raised against the association that it was assisting in raising the price of food products in the province by stating that no food products fell under the operation of the act."

The act to which reference was made was the "Commodities Retail Sales Act." It is difficult to understand how Mr. Matthews can put such an interpretation upon this act, which is abundantly clear in its language. It does cover foodstuffs, and it does, tend to raise prices.

Section 2 of the act, which is Chapter 9 of the Statutes of 1937, defines "commodity" as "any substance of commerce." This includes foodstuffs. Further, in the same clause it says: "Producer means any baker, maker, manufacturer, bottler, packer, converter, or processor." These specific occupations indicate that the main purpose of the act is to give control, for higher prices, over the food of the people of British Columbia. Moreover, the Retail Merchants' Association is clearly identified with the purpose of the bureaucratic measure by Section 3, which gives to that association status as an instrument of government.

This act is repugnant to every principle of justice and freedom. It is bureaucratic in form and oppressive in substance. It conceives a new principle of justice. I quote to you subsection (b) of Section 6, which sets out the methods by which an accused may be convicted. "By proof of the publication of the catalogue or price list as provided for in clause (b) of Section 2 and proof that the retail price published, either directly or by inference, purported to be for the year or period within which the sale to the retailer was made, it shall not be necessary to prove that the catalogue or price list was published in this province, or that the accused knew of its existence."

Here, then, is a new authority, opposed to all concepts of British justice—conviction by inference, and conviction of an accused who was innocent of any intent to do wrong. In order to further the control of food prices and increase the cost of living, a companion act was passed at the same time. It is the "Minimum Loss for Food Products Act." This provides that a retailer can not sell at less than 5 per cent profit. He can not give away any commodity in combination with an article being sold.

I do not think that Mr. Matthews will deny that his association inspired and furthered the bringing forward of these two pieces of legislation, which incidentally were introduced by a private member in direct opposition to precedents of the Legislative Assembly.

Such legislation has long been the desire of the Retail Merchants' Association. It is aimed directly at for there, but more at Ottawa. I disagree with Colonel Fort as to strategic points being adequately guarded. Berkeley Sound is not guarded, and that is the key to the whole strategic situation on this coast—Berkeley Sound, Alberni, York Island is the strategic line. The Victoria forts are not in any military picture. Hostile warships won't steam the length of Juan de Fuca Strait merely for the pleasure of engaging the old or new—guns. Canada should take warning from the known weakness of Great Britain to begin a war light-heartedly with weapons not so new as they might be. I will give one illustration: At the outbreak of the Boer War my regiment offered, at its own cost, a battery of modern artillery made at Emsworth. B. A. MCKELVIE, Cobble Hill, B.C., November 3, 1938.

PROPHETCY Sir.—My attention has been called to a letter published recently in The Times under the name of "Eric Brooks." This letter criticized the exegesis and treatment of four questions dealt with by me in a public lecture.

1. Can the future be predicted?
2. Will Christ come in our day?
3. Will He be actually and bodily present so that all may see Him?
4. What calamities does Jesus say will visit the earth just before the end?

The writer offered to give "intelligent explanations" of these questions to some of the "four or five hundred innocent victims" who heard the original lecture, if someone would pay the expenses of a hall for that purpose.

To avoid newspaper controversy, I went to the telephone and city directories in an effort to find the critics' address that I might inform him privately of my intention to deal again with these questions on Sunday evening, and that I would provide him with a hall to answer these questions on two conditions. These are:

1. That he will satisfy me that he has the experience and equipment to deal with these subjects before an audience.
2. That he will undertake to answer the questions from the standpoint and final authority of the Word of God.

However, I failed to do so and would appreciate it if it could be conveyed to him through your correspondence column. I wish I clearly understood that I am not interested in giving him this opportunity just to hear from him explanations spun out of the human imagination or based on faulty reasoning. These great questions are either a matter of revelation or they have no factual existence. If people today are hopelessly befuddled, as your correspondent says, and have suffered from "harm and affront" in their search for guidance, it is largely because "the petty cobwebs men have spun" have been substituted for the only seat of authority in religion, the Word of God.

If, however, he has explanations from sacred writ to offer people on these questions at this hour, I can assure him of a large and sympathetic audience. The fact that the auditorium is filled each Sunday evening by 7 o'clock, and sometimes before this hour, should make this critic pause before hastily assailing Victoria citizens for their "gullibility."

But just in case Victoria has a "prophet without honor in his own city," I offer him this opportunity on Sunday evening and invite him to send me an outline of his training and equipment in the field of Scripture exposition. I will gladly do the same.

Carrothers was the sole appointee at a salary of $10,000 a year. The board itself consisted of inspectors and an office staff of eleven, with salaries ranging from $175 a month to $65 a month.

ANALYZES FISCAL POSITION OF B.C.

NET DEBT REPORTED

The gross debt of the Province as at October 1 last was $186,424,198; composed of registered stocks and debentures of $122,408,236; direct obligations of the P.G.E. of $20,100,000; Treasury bills totaling $39,823,177; and other items, including $4,067,370 in a balance of unfunded deficits up to March 31, 1934.

Against the gross debt were held sinking funds of $37,344,109; leaving a net debt of $149,080,089, or $2,082,568 less than the year before.

Sinking funds, at $37,344,109, were $13,254,390 in arrears of technical requirements totaling $50,598,499; but current revenues totaling $8,086,355 had been used for outright redemption of debt, as well as considerable payments made from revenue on account of unemployment relief.

Between 1933-34 and 1934-35, there would accrue to the Province combined surpluses of $16,081,442, of which the present year was expected to yield $3,395,000. This had enabled provision of sinking funds on inscribed stock at London and otherwise of $1,500,744; outright redemption of $4,086,355 in other debt, and relief payments from revenue of $6,053,922, Mr. Hart said.

During the year closed at March 31 last, unemployment relief had cost $8,722,266 within the province, of which the Dominion had contributed $2,911,417, the Province $5,154,261, and the municipalities $65,587. The Province had used $3,264,899 from revenue, and had borrowed $1,781,553 of its share from the Dominion and found the remainder in unexpended balances in relief accounts.

SINKING FUNDS

Mr. Hart compared British Columbia's sinking fund position with that of other provinces and with the Dominion itself. The Dominion, he said, had a gross debt of $3,314,558,002, with sinking funds of $66,677,700; the Maritime Provinces a combined debt of $1,881,513,377, and sinking funds of $17,850,148; three Prairie Provinces combined a debt of $498,418,796, and sinking funds of $37,163,701; and Quebec alone a debt of $257,576,099, with sinking funds at $25,351,172. As against that, British Columbia had sinking funds of $37,344,109 on a debt of $186,424,198.

Mr. Hart closed his address with a review of industrial recovery since 1933. Forest production, he said, had returned to $72,000,000 from $39,155,000; minerals to $64,000,000 from $32,602,000; agricultural production to $47,750,000 from $36,292,000; fisheries to $16,000,000 from $12,001,000; manufacturing to $89,000,000 from $70,793,000. Tourist travel outlays had risen to $32,000,000.

Minister's Son Invents Invisible Ear Drum

The Invisible Ear Drum, invented by A. O. Leonard, a son of the late Rev. A. B. Leonard, D.D., for many years secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for his own relief from extreme deafness and head noises, has so greatly improved his hearing that he can join in any ordinary conversation, go to church and the theatre and hear without difficulty. Inexpensive, and—has proven a blessing to many people. Write for booklet to A. O. Leonard, Inc., Suite 800, Canada Cement Building, Montreal. (Adv.)

Mr. Lecky and Mrs. Horcov were elected auditors for 1938. The nomination of officers for the new year took place. Mrs. Armstrong, a member who has recently left to reside in Nanaimo, was welcomed by Mrs. Fryon, and presented with a table lamp from the members as a token of their appreciation of her work and interest in the institute. Jane Dixon Says:

PROBLEMS IN BRIEF: A GIRL IN HER TEENS IS HAVING A DIFFICULT TIME TRYING TO CONVINCE A YOUNG MAN THAT SHE DOESN'T WANT TO MARRY HIM—A MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY TO THE WOMAN WHOSE HOME IS BEING WRECKED BY A DRUNKEN HUSBAND—ANOTHER WOMAN CAN'T BEAR TO LEAVE HER HUSBAND AND YET CAN'T BEAR TO LIVE WITH HIM.

A pot-pourri of troubles, large and small,

Worried Teen—You've gone with the young man almost a year. He is very nice and everyone seems to like him. Friends and relatives think you will be married, but this never will be. You like him, but do not love him. You've tried to explain. He won't listen. You don't want to hurt him because he has been so good to you. What to do?

Compel him to listen. Explain that the situation your companionship has created is a false one, that you must be fair, that you must re-establish both him and yourself on a sound basis. The truth will hurt him less now than it will later, when false hope has taken even deeper root.

One Who Knows—Thanks for your comforting message to the wife whose home is being wrecked by a drunken husband. You are right—when we are depressed we find it difficult to love or to be loved. And a weary, tear-stained, dispirited wife is no inspiration for a drifting husband. You recommend prayer as a solution for the wife's problem. I second the motion. There can be no better, no wiser solution.

Mrs. J. H.—Sorry, but this column can not undertake to supply content answers to its friends, no matter how worthy the cause. You have written me a very intelligent letter. I am convinced your answer would be as good as mine. Just write a sincere expression of the benefit you have found in the product and hope you will be among the lucky few. If we writers knew the answer to content queries we would all be very wealthy persons, taking trips around the world instead of bending our backs over typewriters.

R.A.R.—Many wives have your problem. Husbands who satisfy their own appetite at the expense of their family are weaklings and must be treated as such. They are morally and physically bankrupt. They may need the services of a physician. They may need legal restraint. They may need moral supervision. They may need all three!

Since you "can't bear to leave" your husband and "can't bear to live with him in misery" you will have to take action to cure, restrain, supervise him or decide which of those "can't bears" you can bear the better. Do something or make the best of what you lack the purpose to fight.
